

Probably no one from our part of the world has accomplished more in this world than Andrew Jackson: farmer, businessman, general and national war hero after the Battle of New Orleans, and then President of the United States. According to Robert Remini, his biographer, when Jackson was on his deathbed at the Hermitage, his family gathered around and he spoke to them with his last few breaths before he died. Of all the places he had been, of all the famous people he had known, of all he had accomplished, what do you suppose was the final message he wanted to leave with his family? Remini says that according to the family, Jackson confessed his faith in the Christian religion, the hope of salvation revealed in the Bible, and his great anxiety that they should all look to Christ as their only Savior. Then with his final words he told them, "God will take care of you for me. I go but a short time before you, and I want to meet you all in Heaven." However much you accomplish in life, ultimately there's only one thing that really matters: the assurance that you have salvation in Christ, and the peace of knowing that your family does too. Don't wait until it's too late to figure that out.

On Sunday morning we'll turn to Hebrews 2: 11 – 18. In the Christian life we have an enemy, but the Bible tells us all we need to know to conquer him. This passage provides us with an intelligence briefing on the enemy and his strategy, so that we can avoid the ambushes and win the war. In the evening service we'll look at James 2: 1 – 3, where the Lord uses James to remind us that what we do reveals what we really believe, and genuine faith in Christ shows up in how we behave towards other people. Reveal what you really believe by being here this Sunday!

The Fasting Edge by Jentezen Franklin

There is nothing more powerful than fasting. Though it lasts for a short season, it brings long-term effects and blessings. This audiobook is focused on the power of fasting to help you regain your edge when the circumstances of life deplete your spiritual energy and dull your spiritual sharpness. Best-selling author Jentezen Franklin sets the focus for the book by using the story of the student prophet in 2 Kings 6 who lost his ax head while working.
